Respecting Reputations

You've probably heard children say, "Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words can never hurt me!" Anyone who has ever been the target of others' unkind words knows that this saying is just not true. Words, in fact, can cause great harm. They can destroy reputations and a person's well-being.

What does the Eighth Commandment say about how to treat the reputations of others? Look back at pages 164 and 165 in your text for a review. Also review the Scripture on page 162. Then write "Don't" and "Do" rules for yourself and others your age.
